

March 4, 2025

Dear Valued Customer,

On March 4, The United States enacted a broad set of trade tariffs on imported goods from China, Mexico, and Canada. These tariffs impact a significant number of raw materials and finished products Sun Chemical imports into the United States from these countries.

The materiality of the cost impacts necessitate that Sun Chemical will implement a tariff surcharge.

Effective April 1, 2025, Sun Chemical will implement a 3.75% surcharge for all products and market segments.

Sun Chemical in North America has and will continue to leverage our global manufacturing footprint and supply chain network to implement strategies to mitigate the cost impacts for imported raw materials and finished products.

We will continue to monitor this dynamic global situation, and we are committed to adjusting the surcharge dynamically as tariffs change, including any additional impacts from retaliatory tariffs.

Sun Chemical values your business and appreciates your understanding as we navigate these challenging times. Our goal is to continue providing you with high-quality products, industry-leading innovation, and unparalleled service. We are committed to working together with you to manage the impact of these external factors, recognizing the success of your business is directly correlated to the success of our own.

Thank you for your business.

Chad B. Steiner
President
North America Packaging & Graphics

